Product Data

Protect samples with the Thermo Scientific™ Heraguard™ ECO Clean Bench, which features optimal efficiency, safety and functionality. Available with dual DC motors for low energy consumption.

Heraguard ECO Clean workbenches offer

- Product protection
- Validatable clean air conditions
- High user-friendliness

Various sizes

The workbenches are available with an interior width of 900, 1,200, 1,500 or 1,800 mm and in two different working heights: Standard height Working range: 650 mm / Raised working range: 950 mm

All-round visibility

The side windows allow more light into the working area and thus contribute to a more pleasant working environment.

UV disinfection (optional)

To disinfect the working area, a UV lamp can be installed in the ceiling of the working area.

Transparent hinged windshield (optional)

Protects the user from dry air flow. The windscreen is located below the lamp housing and can be folded down if necessary.

User friendly SmartPort™

Clean and safe passage for vacuum hoses and cables on the side of the workbench facilitates the workflow.

Modular side windows

The side windows made of safety glass have a lockable lead-through for hoses or a media tap. Optionally, a painted sheet steel plate with three feedthroughs can be used.

Prefilter

The prefilter on the suction side can be changed quickly and inexpensively by hand, completely without tools.

Intuitive control panel

Displays safety and performance data.

Easy replacement of the HEPA filter

The HEPA filter can be replaced quickly and easily from the front. The unit does not have to be dismantled or removed from the wall. This saves time during maintenance.

Selection of different worktops

For different applications and individual design of the work area, the units are available with a melamine worktop as standard and optionally with a stainless steel worktop.
